LARGE SALE OF SEATS.
Big Audience Will Hear Madame Schumann-Heink.
The great interest in the Schumann-Heink and Clara Horan concert of Easter Monday evening was shown by the large sale of seats at the Lyceum yesterday, and which indicates that a large and brilliant audience will be present. The great popularity of Miss Schumann-Heink is also shown in the first public appearance of Miss Clara Horan, whose many friends will turn out in large numbers to give her a reception second to none ever accorded a local artist.

The Meminger quartette will give a good account of themselves and their selections will form an interesting part of the fine programme prepared. Delegations will come from up and down the valley, who will attend both the concert and the charity ball.

ARCHBALD'S DISTINCTION.
First to Wear a Judicial Gown on the New Jersey Bench.
The introduction of the judicial gown on the bench of New Jersey has fallen to the lot of Judge Robert W. Archbald, of Scranton, Pa.
Judge Archbald was appointed by Judge Gray, of Delaware, to hear the cases of the present term in the United States circuit court in this state, and he began the duty this morning.
When he emerged from the ante-room adjoining the big court room in the third floor of the postoffice building, with the lawyers and Jurymen, as well as an unusually large crowd of spectators, gave evidences of complete surprise at his appearance.
But the lawyers soon whispered their approval of the robes and the court attaches also remarked the departure with similar respect and admiration.
Ex-Judge Chauncey H. Beasley and Edwin Robert Walker, who were waiting for the call of the case of Plum against the Trenton Abatement company, each expressed himself as heartily in sympathy with the innovation and expressed the wish that the example might be followed in the civil courts.
Robes are worn altogether in Pennsylvania. They are somewhat black, with a yoke at the neck and fitting loosely about the neck and body. There is something dignified above the ordinary in Judge Archbald's attire, and this fact may finally serve to create the desired impression on the regular Jersey Jurists.
The case of Laura R. Colwell against Elisha M. Fulton was taken up this morning and will probably consume the entire session of today.—Trenton Times.

ARE STILL AT SEA.
Attempt of Democratic Select Councilmen, to Harmonize, Failed.
The Democratic members of the select council are in a sad state of confusion. They have a majority of one and can organize the council if they choose, but they cannot agree upon a candidate. An attempt was made after last night's meeting to harmonize all interests, but it didn't succeed.
Up to yesterday, according to the very best of authority, both John J. McDrew, of the Twenty-first ward, and John J. Costello, of the Third ward, had five members pledged to their support. E. J. Coleman, the new member from the Sixteenth ward, being the eleventh man and unknown quantity. It was stated at last night's meeting that Mr. Coleman had thrown his support to Mr. Costello. The McDrew men admitted this, and practically gave up the fight.
A caucus was held in the St. Charles hotel immediately after the meeting, but it was attended by only ten of the eleven Democrats. D. W. Vaughan, who hasn't trained well with some of the Democratic councilmen, remained away and couldn't be persuaded to attend. He had tentatively pledged his support to Mr. McDrew. The latter accounted for his absence only by saying that he was Costello's six. The absence of Mr. Vaughan from the caucus precluded the taking of any definite action, and the caucus was adjourned until next Tuesday night.

JONAS LONG'S SONS'
Grand Millinery Opening.
This was opening day for spring millinery at the big store.
The magnificent display of spring hats, which are models from the best artists of this and foreign countries, is the magnet that is creating the pleasant words of comment that are heard everywhere.
There is a wealth of luxury to be found at this popular millinery parlor. The brilliancy of display surpasses any similar occasion.
Styles and trimmings are found in profusion, tables filled to overflowing with all the popular flowers, foliage and fruit.
In fact, veritable flower beds of daisies, lilies, arbutus, roses, forget-me-nots, poppies, etc., and big canisters of grapes, berries, cherries, so real that they very nearly make you believe them to be palatable. There is considerable historic display in this spring millinery. Hats that were the style when the Duchess Du Barry ruled both France and the King of France.
For the spring, styles are of the time of Du Barry, tempered by the beautiful conceits of Marie Antoinette. It is impossible to portray their airy gracefulness with the hard, positive lines of a pen.
You will be well repaid by visiting these handsome parlors; but perchance unable to attend, possibly a description of a few styles would interest you.
A Louise poppy hat, a flat, broad brimmed hat, made of linen color straw, trimmed with poppy buds; very attractive and striking in appearance.
The Du Barry hat. Its feature is a veil that serves both as veil and trimming.
A boat-shaped hat in a true Louis XV design, the back of which is a notable feature. It has a broad sash lined in folds and falling well over the hair. This seems to be a general favorite and much of this style will be used this season.
There are many pretty things to trim with this spring; for instance, flowers and chains of pearl braids, and bows of many loops. Linen color and red is new at the season's leaders; also burnt straw and pearl ornaments will be much used.
Ribbons will play an interesting part. The soft texture kind in beautiful shades, and many ideas will be seen that were first thought of, and worked out by the dainty fingers of artistic milliners at the big store.
In all the exhibitions of fashion that Jonas Long's Sons have given the people, this millinery display is the peer. It was not thought of, and worked out by the dainty fingers of artistic milliners at the big store.
This big store has caught the inspiration of the hour by displaying the latest of this season's merchandises. There have been many notable displays in this city, but none of such magnificence as that at the Jonas Long's Sons, Scranton's big store.

NEW TERMS ARE NOT ACCEPTED

STREET CAR STRIKERS HAVE DEFERRED ACTION.
Despite the Fact That the Central Labor Union's Executive Committee Favors the Acceptance of the New Proposition, the Strikers Refuse to Agree to It and Postpone Final Action Until After the Central Labor Union Passes Upon the Proposition.
The street car strikers went into session last night at 7:45 o'clock to consider the new proposition from the company. The executive committee of the Central Labor Union, which secured and endorsed the new terms, met with them. At 1:30 this morning, the meeting adjourned, and the only thing the officers of the strikers' union would give out was that action on the proposition was postponed until Sunday night.
The strike situation, in a nutshell, is a fight between the executive committee of the strikers and the executive committee of the Central Labor Union. The strikers' committee refuses to endorse the new proposition and, having in its membership all the effective operators of the organization, it is capable of controlling the action of the strikers.
The Central Labor Union committee which secured the new proposition is a unit in endorsing it as an extremely liberal concession and disposed to a man to recommend that the strike be settled on these new terms.
The strikers' committee says that the Central Labor Union committee does not understand the real merit of the new proposition and that it is doing the strikers a great injury in urging the acceptance of the new terms.
The Central Labor union people say in reply that the new proposition is a best that could be possibly obtained, and that the strikers should be content with it.
A Tribune reporter waited on President Shea, of the strikers' committee, immediately after the adjournment of the meeting this morning, and asked him for a statement of what had been done. He said:
"Go and see the Central Labor union people. They are the whole thing in this. I haven't a damn thing to say."
President John H. Devine, of the Central Labor union, declined to say anything further than that the report of the meeting should be gotten from the officers of the strikers' union.
A member of the strikers' union, who was calm, cool and collected, called the newspaper men aside after the strikers and the Central Labor union people had exchanged acrimonious sallies about the "peppery secret" and the like, and stated that the meeting had decided to take no final action until after the Central Labor union, on Sunday afternoon, has passed upon the new proposition, and that an adjourned meeting of the strikers had been called for Sunday night.
The Central Labor union executive committee on Sunday afternoon will, in all probability, recommend that the strike be declared off. The street car strikers' action will, with equal probability, decide not to accept the new terms.

AT THE CATHEDRAL.
Solemn Pontifical High Mass Was Celebrated Yesterday.
A solemn, pontifical high mass, in commemoration of Holy Thursday, was celebrated yesterday morning in St. Peter's cathedral by Rt. Rev. Bishop M. J. Hoban, assisted by over thirty priests from various parts of the diocese. During the mass the oils to be used during the coming year were blessed by the bishop.
At the conclusion of the mass a solemn procession was formed and the Blessed Sacrament was removed to the beautiful repository on one of the side altars, where it was exposed during the day for the adoration of the faithful. The mass of the pre-sanctified host will be celebrated. The officers of the mass will be as follows:

ARRESTED SECOND TIME.
Generoso Spiotta's Case Ignored by Grand Jury.
Generoso Spiotta, of Dunmore, was arrested a second time yesterday on the charge of attempting to criminally assault Mrs. Maria Zicardi, also of Dunmore. Spiotta was held for trial on this charge before but his case was ignored by the grand jury by a mistake. Mrs. Zicardi was unable to testify before the grand jury, and the district attorney intended that the case should be held back. It was accidentally considered and because of the failure of the prosecutrix to appear the case against Spiotta was ignored.
At yesterday's hearing before Alderman Ruddy Mrs. Zicardi related how Spiotta attempted to assault her, and said that she hit him over the head with a hammer and threw him down stairs. Alderman Ruddy held the defendant under $500 bail for his appearance at court.
Mrs. Zicardi was represented at the hearing by Attorney Charles Daniels, while former Senator M. E. McDonald appeared for Spiotta.

NEGLECTED HER CHILDREN.
Mrs. Agnes Durasovich Arrested at Instance of Her Brother.
John Diamond yesterday caused the arrest of Mrs. Agnes Durasovich, of Gardfield avenue, his sister, whom he charged with neglecting to care for her children, and with being drunk and disorderly.
At a hearing before Alderman Ruddy, Diamond testified that his sister has been in the habit of getting uproariously drunk and leaving her four small children to look out for themselves. The alderman committed her to the county jail in default of $200 bail and a fine of $10. The children have been taken in charge by Diamond and will be committed to some institution.

CAPTAIN DELACEY HONORED.
Captain DeLacey, alderman of the Seventh ward, was yesterday appointed an aide-de-camp, with rank of colonel, to the commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic.
He was recommended by Commander McCauley, of the Department of Pennsylvania. The appointment was recommended some time ago, but was only made public yesterday.

HIS ARM CUT OFF.
Joseph Boland, of Minooka, a young man employed as a brakeman at the Lackawanna railroad, was caught between two sleeping cars, which were being coupled in the yard last night, and had his left arm cut off.
He was taken to the Moses Taylor hospital in a very weak condition, and was reported to be extremely critical at midnight.

Rev. Dr. C. M. Giffin, pastor of the Elm Park Methodist Episcopal church, conducted the funeral services, which were simple and brief, and Alfred Wooler sang two tenor solos. The remains were carried from the house by the following pall-bearers: Gaylord Thomas, J. P. Mills, John Dimmick, E. Morris, James Schnell and H. De Gray.
The body was taken to the Delaware and Hudson station and was taken by train to Carbondale, where interment was made. At the latter city the following pall-bearers bore the remains of the dead physician: Morris Watt, Robert Jadin, John Dimmick, Hall Jadin, Walter Scurry and J. P. Mills.
